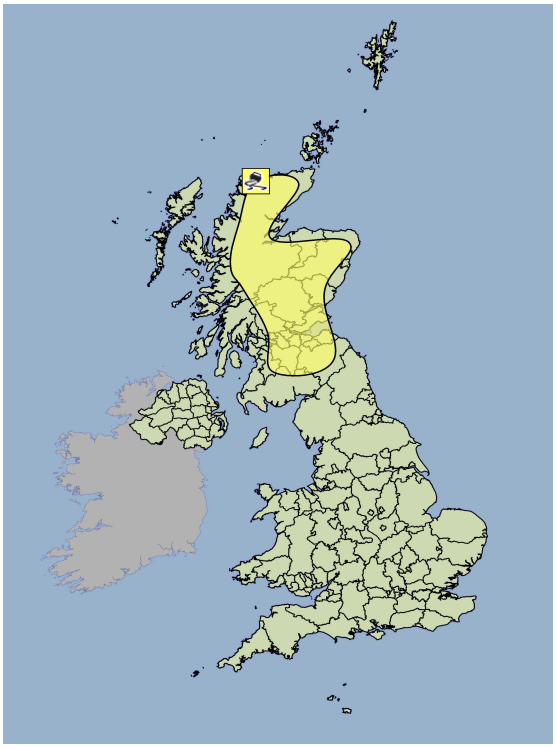
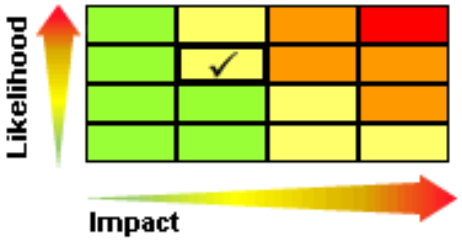
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A cold front will cross Scotland during the early hours of Tuesday morning with temperatures dipping sharply behind with the risk of ice forming. There will also be some wintry showers later in the night.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 03:00 on Tue, 24th Dec 2013 until 09:00 on Tue, 24th Dec 2013

A band of rain and snow will cross Scotland late this evening and at first tonight. Following on quickly behind will be clearing skies and much cooler conditions with icy stretches possible on any untreated roads and pavements.

The public should be aware of the risk of ice and take extra care.
